JUNE 2008

SETTING NATIONAL ACADEMIC RECORDS

The Ohio State University is the only institution in 2008 to number a Rhodes Scholar and four Goldwater Scholars among our highly talented and diverse students.

In fact, 19 undergraduate and graduate students scored 20 significant educational honors this year. These hard-won awards recognize our best and brightest for an array of world-class skills in math, science, engineering, and the arts, and they put our top performers to work on critical issues, from environmental sustainability to international peace.

Exclusive national status: Another telltale to flag the academic excellence and far-reaching impact of America's largest university.

FOUNDED IN 1870, OHIO'S LAND-GRANT UNIVERSITY RANKS 7TH* NATIONALLY AMONG PUBLIC RESEARCH UNIVERSITIES.
